

Cat Therapy Becomes Latest Craze for Criminally Insane

By Michelle Collins

Here's something I think we can all agree on: Cat's would probably love having small needles put in their face. Right?

Welcome to the sad world of cat therapy, an actual thing you can get your cat at something called The Barkley Pet Hotel, "Where Rich People Mock the Homeless."

We have to admit, though, this seems pretty darned quaint:

The Barkley Beach has certified life guards on duty at all times ready for when the furry guests fancy a dip.

I don't own any pets, per se, but I actually wouldn't mind staying at the hotel just to watch this insanity go down live. They have LIFE VESTS for CATS:

This hotel even offers cat blowouts, a thing that cats DEFINITELY LOVE!!!! Camman, homeless (are you on a netbook right now? probably...), even you have to admit, this Cat Hotel is the tops.

Photo: [Splash News Online]