The Barkley Pet Hotel & Day Spa announced that it will be receiving guests as of October 25, 2010. This facility is the only upscale grooming, boarding, and day camp for cats, dogs, birds, and exotics in Los Angeles.

It offers overnight accommodations in luxury suites along Rodeo Drive and offers body massagers, spa baths, "pawdicures" and mud-masks to it's guests.

The creator and General manager of The Barkely, Howard Perlmutter, said, "Since opening the first location in Cleveland, Ohio, we've had our eye on launching another in Southern California. Being offered an opportunity to fill the niche along with the best veterinary practice in California was a natural fit!"

He added, "There is really nothing like this in the entire world! We aren't even open yet and our phones are already ringing off the hook!"

The company describes the enterprise as a paradise for pets, where they can relax, socialize, exercise, and just plain enjoy themselves. Overnight accommodations as well as obedience training, spa services, grooming, and a day camp are available.

Cats can enjoy their stay in Kitty City, where each is provided with a private three level condo (bedroom, living area, and bathroom) that offers a view of bird feeders, an amazing salt water aquarium, and flat-screen TV entertainment.

The pampered guests can be picked up in The Barkley's VIP PET limousine and can enjoy a bedtime tuck-in service, Skype® sessions, and tummy rubs.

Whatever the time of day, owners can enjoy their pet's experience via web cam technology.
