

If I could die and come back as my dog just to go to Barkley-I might. This place is so welcoming and inviting. Day camp has changed Rudy for the better. He is a rescue dog and has always been so afraid of everything and everyone. Being and playing with other dogs has given him so much self-confidence. He used to look at me and beg me not to leave him, now I don't even get a kiss goodbye before he goes to camp. He is so happy (and tired) when we come get him. I wish you were around when he was a younger puppy. I know that he looks forward to going to camp because when my girls ask him if he wants to go-he is the first one waiting at the door to get in the car! What a totally awesome place.

Thank you!
